son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lorraine, of this city. The church was decorated in palms and pink roses, and the ceremony took place at 6 o'clock. Rev. James Young Fair, assisted by Rev. R. Clay Lally, performed the ceremony. The choir, of which the bride was a member, sang during the marriage service. Miss Knowles was given away by her father. She wore a gown of white marquisette over satin, with trimmings of Irish point lace. Her veil was held by a coronet of orange blossoms, and her flowers were a shower of bouquets of gardenias and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor, Miss Jean Baird Knowles, wore white lace and chiffon, over pink mesaline, and carried Maryland roses. The bridesmaids, Misses Margaret Morgan, Ethel Evans and Ella Felsenfeld, wore pink marquisette dresses over pink satin, with trimmings of pink rosebuds, and their flowers were pink chrysanthemums. The groom's best men were Dr. A. L. Lorraine, and his groomsmen were John Cecil, Irving Knowles, Alfred Lorraine, Noel Pillow, William P. Knowles, John Drewry W. Bowie, Jr. After a wedding trip in the North, Mr. and Mrs. Lorraine will be at home at 2395 Grove Avenue. Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Marion Knowles, of Atlanta, Ga.; Walter P. Earnest, of Norfolk; Lieut. and Mrs. Francis S. Whitten, of Annapolis; Mrs. Kate Lewis, of Jones, of Annapolis, and Mr. and Mrs. Royal Cecil, of Washington.

Circuit Court of Sussex Will Convene Tuesday—School Fair Opens To-Day.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Waverly, Va., November 12.—The Circuit Court for Sussex county, Judge J. F. West presiding, will convene on Tuesday next. This will be the regular and ordinary term, of which the personal books returned by the commissioners of revenue will have to be examined by the grand jury, and there are other matters of importance which will claim the attention of the grand jury.

The docket for the November term is made up of several felony cases, a number of common law suits, including three actions of ejectment involving the title to valuable real estate in Sussex, and a very large number of chancery cases. The court will probably be in session until the end of the week.

The Sussex county school fair will be held in Waverly on Friday, November 17. Five hundred school children, from the schools of Sussex, are expected to be in attendance, as well as a very large number of school officials, patrons and citizens generally. Addresses will be made by Governor William Hodges Mann, Hon. J. D. E. Ketchum, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, T. O. Sandy, State agricultural demonstrator, and other distinguished speakers. Between $500 and $600 in prizes will be awarded for excellence in work in the various departments of the public schools.

In the afternoon of November 17, the Waverly Driving Park, Inc., will hold its annual race meet. There have been a large number of entries, and a great time is expected in sporting circles. Many prizes have been offered.

J. D. Grammer, a prominent grocery merchant of this city, made an assignment yesterday to W. T. Daniel, trustee, for the benefit of all his creditors.

The Town Council of the town of Waverly is now grading and rebuilding with granite and gravel, several of its principal streets, which will be completed by the end of the year. Mr. Ritton, division superintendent of the Norfolk and Western Railroad, was in Waverly this week. It is reported that Mr. Ritton gave assurances while here that his company would erect a handsome new brick station building in Waverly during the year of 1912. This will be a much needed improvement.

The Sussex Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, will hold its regular meeting at Sussex Courthouse on Tuesday next. Crosses of honor will be delivered to a number of veterans. The presentation address will be made by Jesse F. West, Jr., of Waverly.

PLEA OF INSANITY IN HUBARD CASE

Experts Probably Will Be Called on to Testify—Arraignment on Tuesday.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lynchburg, Va., November 12.—The arraignment of Ben Hubbard, who is charged with the murder of Dr. J. A. Pettit at Lovington, on September 25, is set for next Tuesday in the Circuit Court of Nelson at Lovington, and it is expected that the case will be gone into immediately after arraignment.

While it is not known what the defense will do at the start of the case, it is more than probable that when it is in the plea of insanity the prosecution will ask that the trial be suspended, and that a jury be empaneled to sit upon the question of the sanity of the accused.

Dr. J. E. LeJannette, superintendent of the Western State Hospital at Staunton, Dr. A. S. Priddy, superintendent of the State Epileptic Colony, of Amherst county, and Dr. W. F. Drewry, superintendent of the Central State Hospital at Petersburg, have conferred with Hubbard some five times, and it is expected, they will be on hand to testify as to the result of their examinations. To combat this evidence, the Commonwealth will have a large number of witnesses, who will testify as to Hubbard's eccentricities, but whose evidence will not agree with what is expected from the alienists.

There is good ground for the belief that the defense expects to save Hubbard from the electric chair by the insanity plea, and no denial is made that this plea will be set up.

It is not thought a military escort will be asked for Hubbard, and that he can be taken back to Nelson from the jail here without fear of harm, as the intense feeling shown against him in September seems to have subsided.

The prosecution of the case will be conducted by Commonwealth's Attorney Whitehead, of Nelson, and George E. Caskie, of Lynchburg, and J. L. Lee and L. H. Brown, of Lynchburg, will appear for Hubbard.

Missionary Mass-Meeting.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lynchburg, Va., November 12.—The only meeting of the Baptist Woman's Missionary Convention, which has been in session here since Thursday, to-day was a missionary mass-meeting in the First Baptist Church, which crowded the church to its capacity. This took place at 3 o'clock, at which time the interests of the State mission board and the orphanage work was the subject of several addresses. The convention will come to an end Monday at noon.

SERVICES OF JOHN T. MCUTCHEON SECURED BY THE TIMES-DISPATCH

Drawings From the Pen of World's Most Famous Cartoonist Will Be a Daily Feature of This Paper.

The Times-Dispatch has secured the services of John T. McCutcheon, of the Chicago Tribune, the world's most famous cartoonist, and beginning with this morning's issue, one of his cartoons will be a daily feature of this paper.

That John T. McCutcheon is the world's greatest cartoonist has become a truism in every land where the work of cartoonists is seen and appreciated. If it is McCutcheon's it's "the last word" in cartoons.

Never in the history of cartooning has there been his equal in the subtle work of peopling a mimic world on paper. For Mr. McCutcheon generally is a conscientious cartoonist, and a cartoonist rather than a caricaturist. His advent into the fold of pictorial story-telling marked the departure from the old time methods of the envenomed pencil and the days of the bitter lampoon. Mr. McCutcheon's work has become a regular factor upon thousands of American breakfast tables as the breakfast food and coffee, and, as one advertiser has put it, "There's a reason."

With a few strokes of his pencil Mr. McCutcheon can put before the public a great truth in more forcible and effective form than can columns of the printed page. With a facility unapproached by any other cartoonist his versatile mind can guide his fingers from the drawing of a single droll figure to a cartoon as full of life as the film of a kinoscope—a progressive series of snapshots given verve and humor by inimitable captions.

From laughter readers have been turned to serious reflection by the famous cartoon on the death of Pope Leo XIII.—a simple picture of the world bound in black crepe, a cartoon that was received with profound admiration and reproduced by newspapers and magazines in every part of the world. Of almost equal simplicity and force were the cartoons drawn immediately after the Iroquois Theatre fire, depicting with painful accuracy the helplessness of the people who died there.

In lighter vein was the cartoon of China Grove, N. C.—Mrs. Bertha Ervin says in a letter from this place: "I suffered badly from nervousness. I had the backache, and my side hurt so that I was not able to do my work."

A friend advised me to try Cardui, and I commenced to take it. I have now used two bottles, and am as strong as ever, and feel fine.

I am thankful for what Cardui has done for me. It is just the thing for women who suffer from any such troubles. I recommend the remedy to all my friends who suffer from womanly ailments.

I cannot say enough for Cardui. It has saved me a whole lot of suffering."

Cardui is successful because it contains ingredients that act specifically on the weak womanly organs. It seems to go to the spot, reach the trouble, relieve the symptoms, and helps to drive away the cause.

Being composed exclusively of vegetable ingredients, which act in a natural and gentle manner, it does its work safely and without bad after-effects.

For fifty years Cardui has been relieving pain and distress caused by womanly troubles, so you may surely rely on it.

If you suffer from any symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui and get well. At the nearest drug store.

the "Mysterious Stranger," drawn when Missouri went Republican. President Roosevelt requested a copy of the cartoon after he saw it, and Mr. McCutcheon sent him the original. Later, when the President was sending a rapid fire series of messages to Congress, he printed a cartoon on the subject which prompted the President to make a similar successful request. Mr. McCutcheon feels that President Roosevelt is one of the unfailing inspirations of the cartoonist.

The other day The Professional Interviewer, a character who on occasion has been represented through the medium of Mr. McCutcheon's pencil, went up to the studio and told him that he had come in the capacity of Mr. McCutcheon's biographer.

The cartoonist didn't reach for the big bale of clippings that he could hand out if he wanted to, and he didn't attempt to quote from the record of the McCutcheon family Bible. Instead, he just hitched up the knees of a pair of blue serge trousers, which have been worn thin in places by the friction of the drawing board, handed the Professional Interviewer a good cigar, and talked about fishing.

By the subtle means usually adopted on such occasions, the Professional Interviewer switched the subject from fishing to the swimmin' hole near Lafayette, Ind., May 6, 1870. Mr. McCutcheon then admitted that boyhood memories of that swimmin' hole have had much to do with the conception of "The Boy in Summer Time and His Pa and Ma."

The swimmin' hole period was about the time when barbed-wire Johnny McCutcheon was drawing caricatures in the back of his arithmetic of the boy who sat in the seat in front of him. And they do say that occasionally the teacher found an original cartoon of himself on the blackboard and was moved to curb Johnny's ambitions thereby. She couldn't forget that some day Johnny was to become a world's greatest cartoonist and make the world laugh. When Johnny became "Mr. McCutcheon" he was graduated from Purdue University in 1889. Until 1895 he did newspaper work and much of the time traveled extensively with George Ade. He was with Dewey at Manila. Mr. McCutcheon also was with the Boers in the South African War.

In 1904 he made a short trip to Japan while the Japanese and Russian War was in progress. His articles and pictures at the time are well remembered by those who followed the progress of the war. In 1905 Mr. McCutcheon made an extended trip through the Middle East, visiting Persia, Armenia, thence to Bokhara and Samarkand. By caravan he crossed the Russian frontier in Eastern Turkistan to Kaashgar, in Chinese Turkistan, by way of the Taidik Pass. From Kaashgar he went northward by caravan to Naryn. From Naryn he went by Russian post, northward a thousand miles to Semipalatinsk, thence by steamer on the Irtysh River to Omsk, where the Trans-Siberian Railroad was taken for Moscow. On October 1, 1906, Mr. McCutcheon resumed his regular work as cartoonist.

In the course of his travels Mr. McCutcheon has written "Stories of Filipino Warfare" and other books, but he is best known to the public through his cartoons.

It may not be amiss to say that Mr. McCutcheon does not hasten to talk about himself, and that the foregoing was gleaned in the course of an interview which would look long were questions and answers to be quoted verbatim. Good evidence that Mr. McCutcheon is far from egotistical lies in the fact that he uses other artists' pictures and cartoons to adorn his studio.

Mr. McCutcheon does most of his work in the afternoon. Ideas come to him easiest at that period of the day, and he confesses that on several occasions he has made some of his best work when he was "hard up for an idea."

TRAINLOAD OF APPLES SOLD AT WINCHESTER

Auction Is Held to Satisfy Claims Against Buyer—Teachers' Association Is Reorganized. New Minister Installed.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Winchester, Va., November 12.—A trainload of barreled apples, worth in the open market from $2 to $3.50 a barrel, was sold at almost give-away prices by City Sergeant Adam Forney in the railroad yards yesterday afternoon to satisfy creditors of Sam Haines, an apple buyer of Lockport, N. Y., who has been operating in the local market for several years. Haines put through deals recently with a number of Frederick county growers for hundreds of barrels of fancy and red apples, and last week he left town. When the apples were about to be shipped the growers with whom he had had dealings heard of his absence and at once attached the fruit. Mr. Haines reached Winchester yesterday afternoon about an hour after the auction had been started, and he immediately endeavored to effect a compromise, but his offers were turned down, and the apples sold from 27 to 87-1-2 cents a barrel.

Dr. Allen Freeman, of Richmond, is to speak on "The Hygiene of Tuberculosis" at the next regular meeting of the Shenandoah Valley Medical Association, which will be held in Harrisonburg on November 22. Valley physicians and several from Baltimore are also to read papers. The society was organized in Winchester about a year ago, and since then the membership has doubled.

Alleging that a window glass in their home was broken with her head, when she was thrown across a room by her husband, Mrs. Frances E. Bierach, wife of George Bierach, a well-known job printer, now employed in the Government Printing Office in Washington, has brought suit for a limited divorce from her husband, at the same time asking the custody of their two children and an injunction restraining Bierach from molesting her. Mrs. Bierach is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron H. Boxwell, of Winchester, and she and her children are now with her parents. She was married to Bierach here several years ago, and not long after he had obtained a divorce from his first wife.

Several successful hunts have been held during the present month by the members of the Blue Ridge Hunt Club in the vicinity of Winchester and Clarke county. A large number of men and women followed the hounds yesterday afternoon. The weather was ideal for the sport, which was much enjoyed.

Rev. Alfred Jones, D. D., formerly of Montgomery, W. Va., who recently became pastor of a group of Presbyterian churches near Winchester, was formally installed as pastor this afternoon, the ceremonies taking place in the historic Opequon Memorial Church at Kernstown under the direction of Rev. J. H. Lacy, D. D., and Elder W. S. White, of Winchester. Dr. Jones is a native of Virginia, and for many years was pastor of a number of churches in this State. At one time he was moderator of the Virginia Synod.

A. C. Hottel and Miss Mary D. Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Sherman, all of Shenandoah county, were married here several days ago by Rev. A. W. Andes, of Harrisonburg, who has been holding revival services in the new Christian Church. The groom is a well-known young farmer.

R. Gray Williams, of Winchester, son of the late Colonel John J. Williams, is to be the principal speaker at the memorial services held by the lodge of Elks at Martinsburg, W. Va., on the first Sunday in December.

Rev. J. F. Burch, who recently succeeded Rev. J. George Gralchen as pastor of the Lutheran Church at Waynesboro, was formally installed as such to-day, the ceremonies being in charge of Rev. George S. Hootch, D. D., president of the Lutheran Synod of Virginia. Rev. Mr. Gralchen, who is a native of Winchester, is now in this city recuperating his health.

A time and place for their next annual reunion will be determined upon by the Tri-State League of Odd-Fellows at a meeting to be held at Rest, this county, on November 20. The league is composed of many lodges in Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland.

Announcement was made here yesterday of the marriage last week in Washington of Miss Effie Adams, daughter of H. O. Adams, of this county, to F. W.
